Sewing:

1. Stack equal numbers of red and yellow squares with grey, green and blue squares, laying both squares facing up. Place a square set on your cutting mat aligning with the inch markings. Cut from one corner to the centre of the top, then cut from the other corner to the centre top.

2. Swap the sides for the grey green or blue layer underneath and sew one side to each triangle, press then sew the other side. Extend the first side beyond the triangle point about an inch, then the second side overlaps by approx. a quarter inch so the top of the block is even. Repeat for all 12 yellow and red squares.

3. Trim the blocks to 5.5" square starting with the top edge of the block. Use the triangle shape and centre it for trimming. Notice that the bottom corners of the triangles are slightly within the block to avoid bulky seams when pieced.

4. Layout the 6 4-patch blocks and sew together.

5. Frame each of the nine blocks alternately with green or blue strips. There are 5 green framed blocks and 4 blue framed blocks.

2 blue blocks

1 grey centre

2 green blocks

2 solid blue blocks

2 grey blocks

6. Lay the block out as a large 9-patch and construct your quilt top.

7. Sandwich with back and wadding. Quilt however you choose. I chose a thinner wadding to reduce bulk as I plan to use this on my table. Thick enough to protect the table but not overly thick to cause bulk on my table.
8. Bind using the previously cut strips. For binding method please see my binding tutorial on our website, called Perfect Binding Every Time.
